Numb. 151.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, DECEMBER 11, to Saturday, DECEMBER 18, 1736.

LONDON, September 30.

The Letters from Paris bring no other News than that Marſhal Noailles was arrived there from Italy; that an old Gentleman was dead in the Bailywick of Chartres aged 100 Years and ſeven Months, having kept his Senſes perfect to the laſt; and that according to ſome Advices arrived there from Rome, the Pope refuſes to make other Conceſſions to the Moſt Chriſtian King than that of placing his Father in Law's Arms upon the Hotel of Poland ſide by ſide with thoſe of King Auguſtus.

By the laſt Poſt from Rome we had an Account, that the Pope has conſented to let the Emperor have 150,500 Crowns of the 600,000 demanded of him by his Imperial Majeſty, in order to carry on the War againſt the Turks.

His Majeſty ſet out from Herenhauſen about 8 o'Clock on Monday the 13th Inſtant, and proceeded on his Journey to Giſſhorn, where he arrived a little before 12 at Noon. The next Morning his Majeſty went to take the Diverſion of Hunting about two German Miles from Giſſhorn; and about 70 wild Boars were kill'd that Day. The 15th, in the Morning early, his Majeſty proceeded from Giſſhorn to the Gohrde, which is a Journey of about 11 German Miles, and arrived there between 11 and 12 o'Clock the ſame Day. On the 17th the King hunted a Stag, and was pleaſed to appoint Tueſdays and Fridays for Hunting Days during his Reſidence there.

Laſt Night all the new Lamps were lighted in the ſeveral Wards in this City; as likewiſe on Fleet-Ditch, from Holborn-Bridge to Fleet-Bridge, which being in four uniform Rows, made a fine Illumination.

On Tueſday one Donoran was taken into Cuſtody for being the Author of, and vending ſeveral ſeditious Songs and Libels againſt the Government.

Mr. Nixon the Nonjuring Clergyman, who was in Newgate on Suſpicion of being concerned in the ſcandalous Libels diſperſed in Weſtminſter Hall, has been admitted to bail before the Right Hon. the Chief Juſtice Hardwick.

Letters from Edinburgh mention, that the Magiſtrates are very buſy in endeavouring to find out the Murderers of Capt Porteous.

Thoſe Letters add, that in the Beginning of Queen Anne's Reign there happened an Affair which ſomething reſembled this: When the Earl of Seafield was Chancellor, one Green was condemned for the Murder of Capt. Middleton, and the Council at Edinburgh ordered him to be reprieved; which the Mob hearing, when the Earl came out of the Council they broke the Coach and Coach Glaſſes, overturned the Coach, and greatly inſulted the Earl, and obliged him to go back to the Council and get the Reprieve changed into an Order for his Execution, and he was executed accordingly.

One Night laſt Week an unpolite Fellow, a Cork-Cutter in Shephard's Alley near Garlick Hill, coming home late, tho' ſooner than expected, and going into his Bed chamber, catched a Surgeon, juſt getting out of Bed from his Wife, and was putting on his Breeches; on which the Cork Cutter immediately drew his Knife out, and cut him acroſs the Breaſt, and ſtabbed him in two or three Places on the ſide of his Belly; he languiſhed till Monday laſt and then died: On Tueſday laſt the Coroner's Inqueſt ſat on the Body, and adjourned to Tueſday next, in order that the Body may be opened, and the Surgeons examined —— This can be but Manſlaughter according to Maddy's in 1 Ventris p. 158. for Maddy comming home, found one Mavers in the Act of Adultery with his Wife, and immediately took a Stool and ſtruck Mavers on the Head, ſo that he inſtantly died; and the Court were all of Opinion that it was but Manſlaughter, the Provocation being exceeding great.

We hear from Dumfries, that on Thurſday fortnight a large Tortoiſe was taken by ſome Fiſhermen upon Blackſhaw, about ſix Miles from that Place, at firſt they did not know what to make of it, and were in ſome Fear, but afterwards gaining Courage they attack'd him with Pitch-Forks, which he twiſted and broke when thruſt into his Mouth; being able to kill him no other way, they made a large Hole in his Back. He weigh'd 250 Pounds, the hinder Part of the Shell was beautifully ſtuck with Muſcles, which ſhews he had been ſome Time in our Seas; he meaſured three Feet in Breadth, and four in Length.

Leghorn Sept. 24. The Sailors on board the Ship Dove, Benjamin Hawes, richly laden, and bound for Ancona, having laid a Scheme for the killing their Captain, and running away with the Ship and Cargo, and ſworn Secrecy to each other, did, on the 18th Inſtant at Night, murder him, and alſo deſigned to kill the Boy; which he apprehending jumped over board, and by ſwimming luckily ſaved himſelf: On his relating the Fact to ſeveral Commanders of Engliſh Ships, they immediately put armed Men into their Boats, and went to the ſaid Ship Dove, where they ſeized the Crew, being in all eight perſons, whom they brought away, and divided into ſeveral of the Engliſh Ships in the Mole, and kept them bound, amongſt whom were three Deſerters from a Spaniſh Man of War. The Spaniards hearing this, ſent on board the Engliſh Veſſel where they were, and by Force took them away, altho' the Engliſh Colours were flying. And this morning, by an order from Florence, ſeveral of the Grand Duke's Soldiers went to the Engliſh Burying Ground, and had the Captain's Corpſe dug up and examined (I preſume to be ſatisfied whether the Boy's Account, that he was murdered be true) The Engliſh Factory have proteſted againſt the violent Act of the Spaniards, in forcing away ſome of the Murderers; apprehending it to be a Violation of the Law of Nations.

Great Precautions are uſed to prevent any Tumults or Riots, upon occaſion of the GIN-ACT taking place. On Tueſday Morning a double Guard mounted at Kenſington; at Noon the ſeveral Guards at St. James's, the Tilt-Yard, Whitehall and Somerſet Houſe were reinforced, to double the Number of Men that uſually mounted there.

And the ſame Night about four hundred of the Life-Guards, and two hundred of Horſe-Grenadiers, paraded in in St. James's Park; a large Party of which afterwards marched into Covent Garden: Several other Parties patrolled about the Streets, in order to prevent any Disturbances.

'Tis said, that an Express from Hannover has brought an Account, that his Majesty will not set out thence to return to Great Britain till the Month of December.

Oct 2. Last Night in the Entertainment of Dr. Faustus at the Theatre Royal in Covent Garden, when the Machine wherein were Harlequin, the Miller's Wife, the Miller and his Man, was got up to the full Extent of its flying, one of the Wires which held the hind Part of the Car broke first, then the other broke, and the Machine and all the People in it fell down upon the Stage; by which unhappy Accident the young Woman who personated the Miller's Wife, had her Thigh broke, and her Kneepan shatter'd, and was otherways very much bruised; the Harlequin had his head bruised and his Wrist strained; the Miller broke his arm, and the Miller's Man had his Skull so fractur'd, that his Life is despaired of; tho' the other three in the Opinions of the Surgeons may do well.

We hear that a Suspension of Arms between the Russians and the Turks has been agreed on for six Months.
